

“There’s no other tool out there that makes it this simple to see which suits are selling and what add-ons people buy. The data isn’t just insightful, it has led to increased profitability.”

TOMAS ROMITA
MADE CLOTHING
TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA

PAYMENTS

INVOICES

POINT OF SALE

ANALYTICS

Table of Contents

Product Development and Technology

We organize our product teams with a full-stack development model, integrating product management, development, and design. We focus on affordability, reliability, and cohesion when developing our hardware and software. Our products and services are mobile-first and platform agnostic. We frequently update our software products and have a regular software release schedule with improvements deployed twice a month, ensuring our sellers get immediate access to the latest features. Our services are built on a scalable technology platform, enabling us to assess risk and capture and analyze over a billion transactions a year.

While our software and hardware is developed in-house, we utilize contract manufacturers for the production of our hardware products.