Hi Vinit -
Jeff's request for global coverage is an important capability for KCP clients. Operationally, FX (hopefully rates derivatives as well) and equity derivatives shouldn't be a problem for global coverage -- Jeff's trading entities are set up in RMS and summit. No need a new account, as we chatted about. I am following up on the compliance front. It's compliance and credit risk management oversights that we need to be sure we have in place. We can discuss on our call. I just want to be responsive to Jeffrey and let him know that he does have global coverage.
