The life of the duo of Tope Sonubi and Tonye Cole of Sahara Energy can now be said to be one day one trouble since the issue of petroleum subsidy broke out they have been running from helter shelter to save their necks from the disgrace that will come out from the shame if the involvement and shady deals of their company is blown open to the public.

Before now the company was mentioned to be selling kerosene meant to be used by the masses as aviation fuel which put the life of passengers that used the company at risk. Shortly after the issue of marketers who collected fuel subsidy broke and the name of Sahara Energy featured prominently among those who collected money without supplying fuel.

The investigations by the House of Representatives panel that probed the subsidy money brought out lots of inefficiency on the parts of many companies that claimed to be petroleum marketers including Sahara Energy.

I realized my plane is arriving so late at JFK this evening that it will be too late to come to you. Can I suggest that we have breakfast at 9 tomorrow morning? May I also suggest that you invite Leon to join us for a coffee sometime this week, so that I can give him a briefing on developments in Austria. As you have noticed my good friend Sebastian Kurz (31 years old!) was elected chancellor of Austria and will form his cabinet shortly. I've been SMSing with him over the last week, and I think we are now in an extraordinary position to assist CEU in a move from Budapest to Vienna. I also have some excellent updates on the situation in the highest level in Hungary. I'm having lunch with Michael Ignatieff, the president of the university, in London next weekend.

██████ deal is on the way. You will win the bet with Leon. Think I will get a good deal with the President if the University. Just finished now. He came straight from George, and what you said was spot on! He will never, ever go for Leon's proposal. Good news is that what I am asking for looks like pocket money compared with what Leon wants. Thanks!!!! 🙌
