ok, Cars Co is under new management and raised all their prices...if you look back we did have a base price of $44 at one point!...It's been $57, $68, $74, $78 ..all over the place...but our base fare is now $76. John at Cars Co said he will see if they can lower the base price for us...but he is leaving soon as he is unhappy with the company and starting his own thing soon...he will give us pricing once he starts up his own business. (he has been running Cars Co since we started with them but says he is tired of making money for everyone else)

Citicorp our base price is $65 plus $3 service fee (so really $68 base fee) plus tax and toll....$68 is better than $76 so I will start using Citicar again until John gets his business up and running and we can compare again...

Did you here about VIA shared rides? It would be about $20. I think Citicar is less money.. as they give us some discount now. You can try to compare
