I'm so glad you made it! I was worried I made you late! It was great to see you too! I've missed you and you look great too!

My meeting with JE was great! It was quick. He asked me what I had been up to and what I wanted to do. He said he would reach out to Eva Dubin about a possible role at the Robin Hood Foundation for me!! It was so nice of him to offer to help, I really appreciate it!! He said to send you my resume so please see attached!

So I'm living in still living in the Tribeca apartment, which is still very cheap (rent stabilized) and I'll graduate from the Master's program at Hunter in June! I am so excited! I hate to say it but I'm tired of being in school - its been a while!

Thank you again and I hope I get to see you again real soon! How is everything else with you!?

Enjoy the show!

I made my train! That was the fastest I've made it. Flats totally help! So great to see you! Sorry I had to bolt. But you look great and I hope your meeting goes well with JE. Where are you living these days? And are you almost done with school?

Hi Lesley!

Hope you are well and gearing up for Christmas! I just wanted to circle back with you regarding my Executive Assistant job search. I'm still looking for something so if you hear of any more positions please do let me know!

Please tell Jeffrey I said hello and speak to you soon!

xoxo

I love that John's an astrophysicist too haha He's is so intelligent yet has never makes me feel stupid when I have a question!

I feel sad about non-profits but it just seems I'm not getting out of it what I thought I would and if I'm not making any actual changes then why do it! It's very sweet of you to suggest the guy you know....not sure the commute to Greenwich is something I want to commit to right now but I really appreciate you thinking of it and I will give it some serious thought! If you also hear of anyone in the city (any of Jeffrey's associates etc) please do let me know!

GREAT on John! I love that he is an astrophysicist...wow...

Agree on non-profit...as great as they are, there is no money to be made really...I know of a guy who is looking for an assistant in Greenwich, CT...he works for JP Morgan...let me know if you want to apply! His assistant is moving to Boston...

Oh! Happy early birthday! Birthdays do get tougher as you get older haha. It's a great birthday present though to have your family with you! Hope you have a

I was in Westport visiting my cousin! I haven't been to New Canaan but Westport is pretty great!

I'm still dating the guy from July! His name is John and he is an Astrophysicist at NASA! He's pretty great....the best boyfriend I've had so far haha. We plan on moving in together in the next couple of months!

I started working about 2 months ago at the the American Academy in Rome. It's a great institution but I'm starting to question my decision to work in the non-profit sector - I can barely live off of the salary and there are alot of anxious personalities in the field! Too much stress for me....I may start looking for an assistant position soon! I want to save money and move out of the city asap! Probably Westchester or upstate - maybe even CT!

How are Ty and Ike?

Glad to hear things are going well! I am still in school and four courses away from graduating with a MS in Urban Affairs at Hunter. Very exciting...it's been a loooong road :)

Love life is good. I recently started seeing someone new who is great (this also sounds like a broken record haha)

Thank you for keeping your ears open for me. Non-profits are tough!!

How is everything else with you?
