good to know...thanks...on another note, when I booked Tristar Limo for JE in Boston, they were a bit rude and kept telling me we don't have an account and it didn't matter that I work with you...it was odd...I am guessing all worked out just fine on the driving end...but they would not let me use your CC (I gave JE's, which is fine)...but it was just a strange experience. By the end of the conversation the girl did say she thought she knew who Jeffrey was...I guess I need to know if we have an acct #? I gave her a past invoice # so she could look things up, but was still given a bit of the run around...
