Hi Jeffrey,

I am so impressed with the new Microsoft, especially the Band, that I would like to apply for a position there. This new product is superior for seniors (especially from a dementia point of view), but it doesn't seem like they have a marketing/sales effort on this front. And, I wonder if they even have a gerontologist on staff.

As there is no specific job to apply for, am wondering if you would mind forwarding my resume to your contact there. I am looking for a full time position now that the election is over, and can relocate anywhere.

Thank you so much for your help!

Best, [REDACTED]
